Phase 3 Recap: Community Voting Results

After receiving more than 40 project ideas from community members, we organized them into six non-clinical categories that reflect shared needs and emerging priorities. Those categories were placed on a public ballot, and the community voted to determine which project types to fund. The results are in.

YDD Funding Priorities as Voted on by the Denver Community

Community members ranked six funding categories by priority (1 = highest, 6 = lowest). The following categories received the highest number of top rankings (1 or 2):

Harm Reduction 53 votes

Efforts that provide supplies, education or outreach to keep people safe and reduce overdose risk.

Creative Expression 49 votes

Projects that use art, music or storytelling to promote healing and recovery.

What's Next? Phase 4: Request for Proposals (RFPs)

In Phase 4, YDD will partner with community-based organizations and members to bring these priorities to life. Applicants with project ideas aligned with harm reduction and/or creative expression are invited to submit a community-created Request for Proposal.

Our team of community-selected budget delegates with lived or living expertise will review proposals and allocate funding to approved anticipated 1 - 2 projects.
